

Call for Papers for ECE Undergraduate Research Conference

IEEE Opportunity Research Scholars Symposium 2023 (IEEE ORSS 2023) is open to undergraduate co-authors from any institution. Topics of interest include subject matter research within the field of electrical and computer engineering, including computer science, data science, robotics, and applications. All papers must be co-authored by an undergraduate researcher with at least one faculty co-author or similar PhD mentor. Submissions must include a 3-4 page paper (standard IEEE two-column format) and a short (5 minute) MP4 video recording of a research presentation made by the undergraduate student author.

Qualifying submissions will be accepted for publication as well as either a poster or oral presentation at a local track after a light review. An additional peer-review will be conducted for accepting the written manuscript into the final IEEE ORSS 2023 paper proceedings, which will be published in IEEE Xplore; these papers will also be considered for the ORSS 2023 best paper awards, which will include a cash award towards attendance at a 2023 CRFID conference of choice.

STEP 1: Qualify

Papers must be authored by undergraduate students with a faculty or similar PhD-mentor co-author.

STEP 3: Decide

The work will be lightly reviewed and accepted for presentation with format set by the local track chair.

STEP 5: Attend!

Document an oral, poster, or virtual presentation at one of the local tracks. Contact local track chair for more details.

STEP 2: Submit

Submit a 3-4 page paper and a 5-minute video presentation of your work to the EDAS site by the deadline for your local track.

STEP 4: Publish?

The work will also undergo rigorous peer-review for inclusion within the conference proceedings, uploaded to IEEExplore if accepted.
